

Journal Week 1

During this first lecture on Systems Analysis, I felt mostly intrigued, yet intimidated. Intrigued because this is new ground to me (as per the introduction), yet intimidated given the individual and group work that is to be done in the next few weeks.